DID YOU KNOW?

The fourth Earl of Sandwich had a career in the Navy but will always be remembered for inventing the snack which was named after him (...the sandwich)!

John Montagu was born in 1718 and educated at Eaton. By the time he was 30, he was running the Navy as First Lord of the Admiralty.

He was notoriously corrupt and an addicted gambler. It was during a 24 hour non-stop card game in a London pub when hunger finally overwhelmed him. He ordered his servant to bring him cheese and meat between two slices of bread – to prevent his hands and the cards from getting greasy.

The sandwich was an instant success – evermore so today!
